 PALACE

Welcome to Fishburne
The historic Roman palace of Fishburne is unique with the survival of its exceptional mosic floors. The palace was built between AD69 and AD79, and was destroyed in 1960. Today this palace is a source of inspiration and generation and a place to find out more about the Romans.

Enjoy the surprising museum with its stunning artifacts such as the Roman helmet, the silver coins and the metal tools found at Fishburne.

Learn ways of being creative at the entertaining workshops.
With lots of Roman games.

Explore the mosaic floors. Most of them were a bit ruined because of sheep who's digging a trench.

Discover what the palace was like 2000
years ago. The palace had 100 rooms in.
